ALEAS Group Ltd. has continued IQ Consulting's high-value service through providing our company with innovative e-learning products over the recent years. To our great pleasure, the ALEAS Group is also reliable and flexible from elaborate planning to meticulous realization and introduction of new curricula.

In 2009, GSK is strengthening internal branding of market-leader consumer healthcare products relying on e-learning. The program is aided by a specially designed test session giving accurate feedback to HR management about awareness and product knowledge of employees. The material is available in GSK's global learning management system.
