Lövé, 3 April 2009

ROTO Frank AG is a leading manufacturer and distributor of window and door hardware all across the world – present in and outside the European Union, the USA, and China.

In the past years, the economic region ROTO South East Europe have established fruitful cooperation with the e-learning developers of ALEAS Group and with the consultants of IQ ConsultinG, which resulted in high-quality electronic training materials and corresponding management-organization models.

The cooperation brought about not only optimally usable products yet custom-made development programs for various divisions.

In January 2009, right after the delivery and successful introduction of the calibrable work safety e-course, we ordered a comprehensive internal e-training for our new CRM system, expecting another skilful and also high-standard solution from ALEAS experts.
